Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by The Japanese Patent Number JP408056737A to Kawase. Kawase discloses a dye cup (1, 2) comprising a cup part (1) having a open top for containing a dye therein and comb teeth (11, 12) provided side by side at an upper end surface of the cup part. As to claim 4, Kawase further discloses a handle part (2) comprises a base portion (3) attached to the cup part and the comb teeth provided in a vicinity of the base portion of the handle part.

3. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Busch et al. (5,154,193; hereinafter Busch'193). Busch'193 discloses a dye cup (Figure 7) comprising a cup part (13b) having a open top (at a housing part 19b) for containing a dye therein and comb teeth (16b) provided side by side at an upper end surface of the cup part.

4. Claims 1, 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bianchi (5,165,335). Bianchi discloses a cup (see below) comprising a cup part having a open top and grooves/comb teeth (32) provided side by side at an upper position of an inner surface of the cup part. The cup of Bianchi is inherently capable for containing a dye. As to claim 4, Bianchi further discloses a tab/handle part (24, see below) comprises a base portion attached to the cup part and the comb teeth provided in a vicinity of the base portion of the handle part. The tab of Bianchi is inherently capable to be used as a handle.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
